PROJECTS

SereniMind : Online Therapy Booking and Web Application

I was solely engaged in building a web app for the department of Science and Technology. The primary objective was to ensure that people, regardless of their geographic location, can easily access qualified therapists. The secondary objective was to create a platform for support groups and discussions within the web application, fostering a sense of community and reducing feelings of isolation.

CottageCore : Cafe-inspired Ecommerce Website

I was also engaged in building an ecommerce website for the department of Science and Technology. The primary objective was to provide a range of coffee mixes and flavours and an easy-to-use user interface enabling users to locate and buy their favorite coffee items.
